

CU Writers Groups

Written by NaRhee Ahn (SOA Film '99)
Sunday, 31 May 2009 14:28

CUE sponsors three writing groups focused exclusively on developing original feature screenplays and television pilots. The writing groups consist of 6-8 alumni and meet in three different areas of Los Angeles. Attendance is free, but each writing group has its own meeting and participation policies.

- CUE Eastside Writers meets once a month in Eagle Rock. For information please email Ricardo Acuna at writericardoacuna@yahoo.com.
- CUE Westside Writers meets every other week in Santa Monica. For information please email Michael Stone at mstoneic@gmail.com and Daniel Housman at housman.daniel@gmail.com.
- CUE Greater Los Angeles Writers meets every other week on Wednesdays at 7:30pm in West Hollywood. For information please email NaRhee Ahn at koreanfilm@gmail.com.

When inquiring about openings for groups, please see the submission rules below:

1. Must be a Columbia University graduate. In your email, please specify which school, your major or track and your year of graduation and type of degree. Preference is given to School of the Arts Film MFA graduates.
2. Must submit a writing sample of a full draft of either a feature screenplay or original pilot teleplay.
3. Must sit in on a writing group meeting and participate in feedback.

If you are a Columbia grad with an established writing group and would like to list your group here and/or find some additional members from our alumni community, let our webmaster John Akin know at info@cue-network.org.